

Selected works

Arun is a diaspora artist based in California, however his work evokes the sights, sounds and smells of India. His canvases are ablaze with rich colours and broad expressive strokes, sometimes returning to a realistic depiction of his protagonist, in others he paints in an expressionistic and semi abstract manner. Most of his works convey the isolation of the Indian woman living abroad, weaving mythology into contemporary narratives. They are usually from different social strata, whether working class or bourgeois, the women are usually captured in act of waiting. He also paints, seascapes, landscapes and cityscapes.”
